MESSRS. Pearce arrived from Olds this week with their steam well boring outfit to take orders for wells in the Edmonton district. Their appliances will drill 500 to 1000 feet without difficulty and are guaranteed to overcome all obstacles. They bored a number of wells in the vicinity of Olds, getting water in every case.

It would be a good and proper thing if the grading on Jasper avenue were extended west to Third street. The sidewalk on Jasper avenue at the corner of Third street in front of the H. B. store is lower than the street at that point and when the weather is wet the mud of the street gradually extends over the sidewalk making it very slippery. Even a small ditch on the side next the sidewalk would cure the evil, but a grade to connect with the grade on Third street would be best.

A CAR of wheat arrived on Monday's train from Moose Jaw for the Edmonton milling Co. This importation of wheat was rendered necessary to ensure the mills enough wheat to grind on until the Edmonton wheat would come in. It seems strange that wheat can be grown, harvested, threshed and marketed at Moose Jaw and then brought to Edmonton before the Edmonton wheat can be delivered at the mill, but the reason is that in this district wheat is not as important a part of the farmer's resources as it is in Moose Jaw and therefore the same energy and attention is not given to its early harvesting and marketing. Oats, barley, hay, potatoes and roots generally take up a large part of the farmer's time and attention here, and so the wheat lags behind. And any way we don't rush things in this part of the country—we don't have to.

THE DELEGATES.

The British delegates who arrived on Thursday's train, conducted by Mr. Cox of the Dominion lands office, Winnipeg, crossed the river on Sunday evening and took up their quarters at the Alberta hotel. On Monday they were driven to St. Albert and Sturgeon river settlements, returning in the evening. During the afternoon arrangements were made to entertain them at dinner in the evening for the purpose of making them acquainted with the citizens and also with their mission and its probable results. About thirty citizens and delegates sat down to dinner at 7.30. Although the notice was short Mr. Marriaggi was equal to the occasion and the spread was such as would delight the heart of an Englishman. The chair was occupied by Dr. Wilson and the vice chairs by Messrs. M. McCauley and S. S. Taylor.

After the solids had been done ample justice and the toast of The Queen duly honored, the chairman proposed Our Guests, which was received with applause. All the delegates responded in turn. Messrs. Steven and Smith, who spoke first, were non-committal in their remarks, the latter even going so far as to hint that the delegates were being entertained in order to bias their judgment. However, he believed that the country was a good country and that it had a great future before it. The lack of a market which was felt at present would not be felt when population and production had increased largely enough to ensure cheap transportation. No matter how great production might be there would be open markets to take and open purses to pay for all that could be produced. The rest of the delegates declared themselves highly pleased with Canada as a whole and with this part of Canada in particular, and also as being well satisfied with the opportunities which it afforded men of their class coming from the Old country. Mr. Fraser of Inverness was particularly outspoken and declared that the country from north of Calgary to Edmonton appeared to him to be most suitable for the location of settlers from the Old Country of any he had seen, by reason of the many natural advantages which it possessed. He would have no hesitation in stating these facts as he understood them on his return home, and he hoped it would not be without result. He saw that while people were crowding each other there more people was exactly what this country needed to give it increased value and to benefit not only those who would come but those who were already here. Messrs. Shelton, Faulks and Benjamin dwelt on the unsatisfactory results achieved by British farmers at the present time and the necessity that many of them were under to seek new and wider opportunities than they could find at home. They thought that with the opportunities offered by this country many with whom existence was a struggle at home would do well to transfer their capital and energies to this region. They had heard of the winters and were sorry that they would not be able to speak of them from experience but they were pleasantly surprised at the fine weather they were then enjoying which they had not expected in October.

The toast of The Army the Navy and the Northwest Mounted, police followed and was responded to very neatly by Inspector Snyder.

The Civil Service was responded to by Geo. Roy and G. J. Cox. The latter spoke at some length of the present trip. This was not a Pullman car but a backboard delegation. The delegates were practical men and had come out for a practical purpose and they stinted neither time nor trouble nor fatigue to see all that could be seen that would add to the stock of information they were collecting. Alluding to the friction that had occurred at Edmonton regarding the delegation he said that he alone was responsible for the arrangements that had been made. That in his arrangements he had considered the best method of procedure whereby the country could be seen to the best advantage; he knew of no local jealousies and so had not considered them in making his arrangements; and if the thing had to be done over again he would take the same course. Speaking of the practical character of the delegates he mentioned that one of them had been awarded the second prize for two years and the first prize for three years for his dairy products by the Royal agricultural society of Great Britain, and that another had been awarded the gold medal by the same society for the best kept farm in Britain. He spoke of the liberal provision made for education in the Northwest and of his own faith and belief in Canada, his adopted country.

The Press was responded to by Frank Oliver. The Learned Professors by Judge Rouleau, Dr. Braithwaite and S. S. Taylor. The Commercial interests by W. Johnstone Walker, J. A. McDougall and G. J. Kinnaird. The chairman was proposed by Mr. Fraser, of the delegation, and responded to by Dr. Wilson, and the Ladies was responded to by T. W. Chalmers.

The toasts and speeches were varied during the evening by songs. Dr. A. F. Ibbotson, sang "The British Lion" "Rule Britannia" and "Will 'o the Wisp" T. W. Lines, "The Death of Nelson." F. H. Faulks, "Mary of Argyle" which was encored, and G. J. Cox "The Boys of the Old Brigade." The singers were accompanied on the piano by F. H. Andrews.

The proceedings were closed about 11.30 with "God Save the Queen," and the delegates departed for the South Side to await the morning train.

AN EDMONTON MAN'S OPINION.

Calgary Herald: The following letter is reprinted from the Canadian Gazette, having been sent by J. Northcote, of South Edmonton, to Mr. John W. Down, the Canadian Government agent at Bristol. It needs no comment as it speaks for itself on the advantages Alberta offers.

Dear Sir,—Many thanks for your letters dated the 5th and 11th inst., also papers, etc. I see that you in England have experienced a very bad summer, especially as regards farming prospects; but I must say it's not so out here in the Northwest. It has been one of the finest summers that could be for growth. We had a lot of rain in the spring; rather too much for the time, as it threw the seedling rather behind in some districts; but I never saw things grow so fast as they do here; there is an abundance of hay; and the farmers have been favored with fine weather. If the weather continues fine for a couple of weeks more, it will be one of the best harvests that could be wished for. Oats and barley are a splendid crop, anticipated to yield on an average of from 80 to 90 bushels per acre; the potato crop as well is very good; the wheat is rather later than usual, owing to the wet spring but is of first-class quality with plenty of hay in most districts, and good harvest. This has been a benefit to settlers newly coming in; and it is my firm belief that a man would have to travel some hundreds of miles before he sees a country to beat the district of Alberta for mixed farming, and as far as stock is concerned, it cannot be beaten. It is wonderful how cattle thrive on this Canada hay; I assure you there is much food in this hay.

One advantage here is a man can obtain land to suit his taste—rising land or flat land, timbered land or prairie—or he can purchase for the sum of $3 (12s.) per acre some of the best land in the district, known as Canadian Pacific Railway land, as close as two miles of town. It must be a certain proof by the hundreds that have come here this spring that this district is considered by most to be the best they have seen.

They say, can a man live here? I say he can, and live far better than he could in England. Here he has no rent, no taxes, only a small school rate; the land is his own and he must be a dull one if he could not manage to live. I don't say a man will make lots of money here, as we are a long way from market. I only wish I had come out here a year or more ago; I should have been better off than living where you have to pay big rents and the taxes and rates amounting to nearly as much as the rent. So my advice to small farmers in England with such hard times before them is to give the Northwest a trial; not to stay and slave and lose their all before doing so.

Of course, a man must make up his mind to put up with trifles and a little rough living for the first year until he gets fixed up. As far as I have seen the country, I prefer lands east of Edmonton; it is more safe for grain growing. Wild fruits of all descriptions grow in abundance—such as strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries—all over the land, and in many instances I have seen the raspberries equal in size to cultivated ones. The winters, they say, seldom commence before December, and the spring commences with the month of April; so it's not so bad but what a man can put up with a little cold for this period.

104 PAPERS
—IN A YEAR FOR—
$2.00.

News of Edmonton and surroundings up to hour of issue.

News of the world by telegraph up to day of issue and from two to five days ahead of any other paper reaching Edmonton.

Controlled only by the proprietor and therefore always ready and willing to speak out for the good of the town and district.

The BULLETIN is read more generally throughout the Edmonton district than any other paper.

If you want to do business in the Edmonton district you can reach more of the people with a less expenditure of money through the advertising columns of the BULLETIN than by any other means.

Fair advertising rates charged, and like rates to all parties.

No advertising of a questionable nature admitted if its character is known.

The BULLETIN Printing office is second to none in the Territories. Only first-class type, machinery and paper employed. Printing of all kinds done promptly, neatly and cheaply. Call and see samples of work, and get prices before ordering your printing elsewhere.

A newspaper is not a producing industry, but if properly conducted it assists and stimulates production and progress more than any other single agency of like cost. Money spent towards the support of a newspaper is almost entirely spent within the town in which the paper is published and is therefore not lost to the business of the town.

The local newspaper represents the district in which it is published to the outside world.

Support your home paper liberally if it deserves support, so that it can give the best possible impression of your town and district as a field for immigration and investment.

There is big money for a new town in having a live and interesting paper.

GENERAL NEWS.

Yellow fever is epidemic in Brunswick, Georgia.

Fighting has commenced in Mashona land, South Africa, but no serious engagements are yet reported.

Shillfully executed forgeries of Dominion two-dollar bills have been sold in Quebec city by American dealers.

Still another new British Columbia paper comes to hand. It is called the Ledger and is published at Nakup, B. C.

The annual report of the Manitoba historical and scientific society for last year has been published in pamphlet form.

Counterfeit Canadian silver is in circulation in New Westminster and Vancouver. It is only a middling imitation of the genuine coin, and is easily detected either by ring or color.

Thirty thousand people are homeless and starving along the Atlantic coast of the Southern States, as a result of the recent storms. They will have to be sheltered and fed by charity for the next eight months.

McCarthy and O'Brien addressed a large meeting in Listowel, Ontario, on October 12th, announcing their platform, which was tariff for revenue and no separate schools. O'Brien said that the government had entered into a conspiracy to upset the judgment of the privy council in the separate school case. Of this conspiracy Sir John Thompson was the head and Clarke Wallace the tail.

Winnipeg Tribune: When we in Manitoba vote for protection we are sacrificing our own interests indeed, but we are not acting in the interest of the eastern provinces; we are helping to impose on them the same burden we suffer under; we are helping to rob the people there of a handful of capital that may add to their all-gotten riches. And in aiding a policy ruinous to the North-west we are aiding a policy ruinous to that part of Canada on which the hope of every poor dweller, and where the future of the country lies.

Gold quartz mining has been commenced in Carleton, B. C. The Golden Eagle mine near the Quoniam forks, will be worked all winter. Hydraulic mining is being pushed in Horse Fly creek, and a large placer mine in the Victoria district says: A number of the creeks, tributaries of China creek, have never been prospected; but on those that have been visited a great deal of native gold was found. Three men on China creek are doing well at placer digging, and Brown Bros. at Spent Lake are also reaping the reward of their perseverance. Good reports are likewise received from Cameron lake district. Work has commenced on the new trail, and is now well under way, but it is more than likely, in view of the easy grade, that a wagon road will be built down to the water. Game is plentiful all through the region.

The following is a telegram of October 11th: The Polouse valleys are drowned, and the harvest presents a pretty gloomy spectacle. South and west of here fully half of the standing crop, which aggregates about 60,000,000 bushels, is damaged beyond recovery, and most of that in stacks lying out is totally ruined for anything but feed. The uncut grain that is knocked down is beaten into the ground or laid so low that the header cannot reach it. The stems are matured, so there is no possibility of rising. The weather has cleared up some, but the indications are that it will continue showery. This, following a week of incessant downpour, precludes a resumption of the harvest. The farmers are left in a bad fix. Current prices barely cover expenses, and the loss of the principal part of the crop adds a greater burden than many can bear.

Winnipeg Commercial: The Northwest is the hope of America—of the Republic and the Dominion. Railway construction—the forerunner of development, of commerce, industry and wealth—points to this conclusion. There is more good land tributary to these northern routes than exists to feed the southern routes, and the amount of fertile territory increases with each step northward from one route to another. The next through Pacific route will in all human probability occupy the North Saskatchewan country, a region 200 to 300 miles farther north than the most northerly route now in existence, but already reached by two branch lines from the Canadian Pacific. This Saskatchewan valley route of the future will far eclipse all other Pacific railways in the amount of fertile territory tributary to its line. The seat of empire is coming northward.

George Johnston, Dominion government statistician has gone into the figures given by the last census regarding the several occupations followed in the country. He deduces from the figures which he supplies that the domestic and personal services class is as fully supplied as the conditions of Canada require; that there is room for more in the professional class, compared with the fullness in other countries; that the commercial class has obtained about the proportions justified by the wants of the country; that the agricultural class will stand a good deal of depletion before being unduly reduced, that the mechanical and artisan class will stand large additions before reaching the proportions obtained by other countries. If Mr. Johnston's figures have really led him to the conclusions given it must be because his figures are wrong or his method of handling them is, for it is most patent to everyone that his conclusions are diametrically opposed to the facts.

Winnipeg Tribune, on the speeches of Messrs. Foster and Angers in Winnipeg: The grave-like silence with which the "good points" made by the ministers in their speeches Tuesday night were received is ominous for the old policy, and it was abundantly evident that Winnipeg is stirred to the core on the great question of tariff reform. If Messrs. Foster and Angers and their colleagues have nothing better to offer than the played-out platitudes which they rehearsed in the rink, then their cause is doomed. If the great revision, so much discussed and heralded, is not to be of a radical nature, the people will have none of it. It makes little difference to the Tribune which set of politicians rules at Ottawa, but it has this to say, that so far as Manitoba is concerned the next parliament will contain a solid delegation pledged to do its utmost to wipe away the policy of restriction which has lowered like a deadly pall over the life of our province. Let the ministers take warning.

Speaking of the visit of the first British delegation the Kamloops Sentinel following up the line taken by the Victoria Times says: "The identity of the country with no knowledge of the country, of its climate or of its capabilities, by a brief tour across the continent, can become competent judges of its resources, or advisors to their fellow-countrymen appears a possession of acquisitive powers not compatible with fact. To use an oft-repeated quotation 'What is worth doing at all is worth doing well,' and if it is thought advisable to send out men to 'spy out the country,' they should do so patiently and thoroughly, so that their estimates may be founded on actual experience, and not on a casual glance."
